“Hong Kong National Security Law – Safeguards and Hopes” Social Media Post Competition

With the forthcoming fifth anniversary of the implementation of the Hong Kong National Security Law and the commencement of the Safeguarding National Security Ordinance upon gazettal in March 2024, the Department of Justice and the Security Bureau, with the Education Bureau as the supporting organisation, are jointly hosting a social media post competition on this remarkable occasion. Tertiary Students and members of Uniformed Groups in Hong Kong are now invited to unleash their boundless creativity by producing social media posts on the theme of “Hong Kong National Security Law – Safeguards and Hopes” to convey vividly the messages of how the relevant laws firmly fortify our defence in safeguarding national security, and how they safeguard social stability and people’s livelihood with the rule of law principles, thereby bringing to all sectors and members of the community new opportunities and new hopes for a more bountiful and vibrant future.

[illegible]

Participants must be students studying in local Tertiary Institutions or members of Uniform Groups. They may enter the Competition individually or in team (of up to 3 members). Entries must be submitted on or before 16 May 2025. Details of enrolment and entry submission will be announced on the Competition webpage as soon as possible. Competition guidelines and rules, and enrolment form will be uploaded to the Competition webpage once available.

>>>>>>>>>>Entry Requirements<<<<<<<<<<<

Entries must be social media posts of motion images and of no more than 2 minutes in length. Entrants are free to choose from a variety of expression forms (e.g. a story, documentary, a song, animation and slide show) in producing the social media posts.
